1 Introduction

Each individual staff member at Tute has a responsibility to ensure that the principles and duties of safeguarding children are consistently applied, with the well-being of those children at the heart of what we do. Having a knowledgeable and well supported workforce is a fundamental element in achieving this. Part one: Safeguarding information for all staff of Keeping Children Safe in Education (2024) states that all staff should receive appropriate safeguarding and child protection training which is regularly updated.

1.1 This strategy has been developed to ensure that Tute has a clear and shared vision of the priorities for safeguarding training and how this will be achieved.

Records of completion of training will be held in a secure spreadsheet accessed by DSL, DDSL, and Head of People Culture and Social Responsibility.

2 Aim of the strategy

As a partner to schools, local authorities, and non-mainstream settings, they require assurance that Tute has effective arrangements to safeguard children and young people by partner agencies.

Effective training in key areas associated with safeguarding children is fundamental to achieving this. This strategy aims to:

- Ensure that safeguarding training/learning activities meet statutory requirements
- Enable practitioners to recognise and respond to need and risk

- Ensure that training/learning activities are relevant to Tute and its online environment
- Embed learning from reviews, audits, and surveys into practice in order to continuously improve
- Communicate key safeguarding messages, research, lessons, and procedural expectations to staff and to schools
- Ensure a consistent approach to safeguarding children and continuous learning

3 Improved outcomes

Safeguarding training is effective in helping staff understand their respective roles and responsibilities and in developing a shared understanding of assessment and decision-making practices. Effective training promotes better outcomes for children and young people by fostering:

- A culture of safeguarding where everyone is vigilant and shares concerns
- A well-trained workforce with the skills and knowledge to identify harm and the confidence to report concerns
- A shared understanding of processes, principles, roles and responsibilities
- Improved communication and information sharing between professionals, including a common understanding of key terms, definitions, and thresholds for action
- Effective working relationships, including an ability to work with customers, groups or teams
- Sound child-focused assessments and decision making

4 Safeguarding training responsibilities

The overall responsibility for training lies with the Designated Safeguarding Lead. Duties will be delegated to Deputy DSL and to Head of People Culture and Social Responsibility.

The core duties of the DSL, DDSL, and Head of People Culture and Social Responsibility. are to:

- Co-ordinate safeguarding activity in promoting the welfare of children at Tute
- Set and raise standards in safeguarding
- Ensure that safeguarding training is provided which meets need
- Ensure that safeguarding training is completed by staff
- Ensure that a log is made for evidence of all safeguarding training completed
- Carry out the above function by having a view as to the priorities for safeguarding training based on safeguarding themes as directed government and customers
- Evaluate the quality of safeguarding training, ensuring it is reaching the right people and that the workforce is able to recognise and respond appropriately.

5 Training principles and values

All aspects of training are to be based on the following principles:

- Child centred
- Rooted in child development
- Focused on the outcomes for children
- Holistic approach
- Ensuring equality of opportunity
- Informed by evidence
- Based on the work and parameters of Tute

All safeguarding training should create the ethos that:

- Values working collaboratively with others
- Respects diversity
- Promotes equality
- Is child centred
- Promotes participation of in safeguarding processes

6 Training expectations

All safeguarding training should encompass the following:

- The training environment is suitable

- Training will be delivered in an environment which is conducive to learning
- This could be face-to-face, online, or a blend of both (the latter needing attention to ensure that all are involved)

7 Engagement with the training process

- Engage with the process
 - Participants are expected to actively engage with the learning process in its entirety
- Managers support
 - Managers must support training by placing value on the importance of training for their team, and allowing sufficient time for them to undertake any pre-course preparation, and to attend the training event
- Recognise emotional challenge
 - Subject matter can be challenging to process, particularly when discussing types of abuse. Trainers and participants should be respectful to others' reactions and consider that they may have personal experience
 - Participants are allowed to leave if the content becomes too difficult to process. Materials will be provided later or an alternative training method such as online will be organised
- Challenge respectfully
 - Tute values the importance of debate and discussion to encourage learning in a safe environment. This should be done in a respectful manner, without oppression. Any issues arising will be dealt with in a professional manner, outside of the training environment.
- Unacceptable behaviour on training will be proactively addressed
 - Training should be a valuable learning experience for practitioners. In the event that a participant or a trainer is behaving inappropriately, to such an extent that this is disrupting the learning experiences of other participants, the participant will be asked to leave and the incident will be reported to their line manager
